Respected sir,

Greetings from MES Asmabi College, P. Vemballur

We have conducted a survey for collecting feedback on curriculum from different stakeholders. From the survey it is understood that it will be helpful for the stakeholders if some minor changes are incorporated in the syllabus. As a board of studies member in Aquaculture, we would like to intimate you the suggestions we got regarding BVOC Fish Processing Technology curriculum.

The suggestions we got are; there are some overlapping between few portions of some courses which can be avoided for avoiding repetition, practical or similar courses or portions can be increased, include more industrial visits and field studies.

Sincerely

From the survey it is understood that it will be helpful for the stakeholders if some minor changes are incorporated in the syllabus. As a board of studies member in English, we would like to intimate you the suggestions we got.

The suggestions we got are; in the paper Literature of the marginalised, availability of study material is really difficult. So if making any corrections in the syllabus or making arrangements for the availability of study materials will be really helpful for them.

Sincerely

We have conducted a survey for collecting feedback on curriculum from different stakeholders. From the survey it is understood that it will be helpful for the stakeholders if some minor changes are incorporated in the syllabus. As a board of studies member in Hindi, we would like to intimate you the suggestions we got.

The suggestions we got are; the portions related to contemporary issues are really less which can be improvised by including more papers or portions in papers related to it. Also it will be really good if we are including papers related to grammar in the first semester itself of every courses.

Respected sir,

Greetings from MES Asmabi College, P. Vemballur

We have conducted a survey for collecting feedback on curriculum from different stakeholders. From the survey it is understood that it will be helpful for the stakeholders if some minor changes are incorporated in the syllabus. As a board of studies member in West Asian Studies Single Board, we would like to intimate you the suggestions we got.

The suggestions we got are; in the course Indian constitution and politics: Basic Features and Government structure, a timely updation is needed. The paper now focuses on 1990 till 2000 which need to be updated. Also Recent trends and happenings can be included in the paper. Additionally there is lack of critical pedagogy which is a serious issue.
