Group Learning/Discussions

Group learning was conducted in First semester Bcom Computer Application on the unit based on Transformation of Sentences from the textbook 'A02- Functional Grammar and Communication.' Students indulged themselves in essential skills such as active listening, effective communication, critical thinking, collaboration, time management, emotional intelligence and adaptability. A deeper understanding of the topic was able to be generated. It increased the participants' attention to the subject.