

Report on Pandemic Frames Season 2: Online Short Film Festival

Following the resounding success of the inaugural edition, BVOC Digital Film Production and MES Asmabi College, in collaboration with Asmabi Film Club, proudly presented Pandemic Frames Season 2. This online short film festival took place from July 15 to July 30, 2021, marking another significant milestone for the participating departments.

Despite the persisting challenges of the ongoing pandemic, the festival garnered an impressive 80+ registrations, showcasing the continued enthusiasm and commitment of filmmakers and enthusiasts alike. The decision to hold the festival online, much like its predecessor, proved to be a strategic choice, allowing participants to engage safely and creatively from the comfort of their homes.

The theme for Pandemic Frames Season 2 was aptly titled "Life, Hope, and Future." Filmmakers were encouraged to explore and depict these themes through their lens, providing a platform for introspection and creative expression during these unprecedented times. The chosen topic resonated with the global community, reflecting the collective yearning for positivity and a brighter future.

The festival unfolded against the backdrop of the ongoing pandemic, making it a unique and relevant event that captured the spirit of resilience and hope. The online platform facilitated the streaming of films through various channels, ensuring widespread accessibility and audience engagement.

Pandemic Frames Season 2 not only built upon the success of its predecessor but also expanded its reach, attracting a diverse array of submissions that delved into the complexities of life, the essence of hope, and the aspirations for the future.

Conducted by the same dedicated departments, the festival continued to serve as a testament to the creativity and adaptability within the film community. Pandemic Frames Season 2 was not just a film festival; it was a celebration of storytelling, innovation, and the unwavering human spirit, providing a meaningful outlet for expression in the midst of challenging times.
