The event was inaugurated by Dr. Amitabh Bachan K.H., IQAC Coordinator, who addressed the participants with inspiring words on the importance of understanding and supporting refugee communities worldwide.

The silent walk commenced on college premises, with 30 students and 3 teachers holding placards that conveyed impactful messages against war and in support of refugees. The placards featured powerful statements, statistics, and quotes highlighting the devastating effects of conflict and the urgent need for global solidarity and compassion towards displaced individuals. The walk proceeded in silence, symbolizing the solidarity of the participants with those who have been forced to flee their homes due to violence and persecution.

The walk created a significant visual and emotional impact, drawing the attention of the campus community and fostering a broader understanding of refugee issues.

It not only deepened the participants' understanding of refugee challenges but also spread awareness throughout the campus, inspiring others to support refugee causes and work towards a more peaceful world.

The event concluded with reflections from the participants, who expressed their renewed commitment to advocating for refugee rights and fostering a culture of empathy and support within the campus and beyond.
