

Inter-Departmental Dance Competition

The Department of Economics at MES Asmabi College, P.Vemballur, organized an inter-departmental dance competition as part of the Economic Fest on February 4, 2025. The event saw enthusiastic participation from various departments, with students showcasing their dancing talents. The competition was filled with energy and excitement, with participants performing to popular songs. The judges were impressed by the participants' skills and creativity, and the audience cheered them on with enthusiasm. The event was a great way to bring students from different departments together and celebrate their love for dance.

The Department of Economics congratulates all the participants on their outstanding performances and thanks everyone who made the event a success.
