The Department of English at MES Asmabi College, P. Vemballur, organized an insightful orientation session titled Scholarly Pursuits: A Pathway to NET and PhD Preparation for Aspiring Students on 4th December 2024. The session aimed to provide first-year MA English students with a roadmap to academic excellence, focusing on preparation strategies for the National Eligibility Test (NET) and pursuing doctoral research.

The session was led by Mr. Manosh Manoharan, Assistant Professor of English at Chinmaya Vishwa Vidyapeeth. His expertise in research methodologies and academic preparation provided the students with a well-rounded understanding of the challenges and opportunities in higher studies. Mr. Manoharan highlighted the significance of scholarly research in the field of English

The session was highly interactive, with students actively participating in discussions. Many queries were raised regarding the eligibility criteria, exam pattern, and the relevance of interdisciplinary studies in research. The resource person provided practical tips and motivated students to approach their academic journey with diligence and curiosity.

The session concluded with a vote of thanks by class representative Sneha Priya K acknowledging the resource person's contribution and the department's commitment to fostering academic growth among its students.
