

The book cover features a dark, atmospheric illustration. A large, glowing blue sphere, resembling a planet or moon, is partially obscured by a dark, curved shape that looks like a cave entrance or a large tree branch. Below the sphere, a landscape with rolling green hills and a small, domed structure is visible. The overall mood is mysterious and naturalistic.

Ecocriticism is an inclusionary term that is most commonly used to refer to environmentally oriented study of literature, art and other media. Life with the harmony of nature and environment is an integral part of human life. Many ancient cultures have advocated life in harmony with environment. Many of the rituals i.e. the worship of trees, animals, forests, rivers, and the sun, and considering the earth itself as Mother Goddess may seem meaningless in this modern era. But these rituals and culture have connected humans with environment from ancient ages. It tries to bring a balance between shallow ecology or anthropocentric approach that advocates conservation of nature and natural resources as against deep ecology that advocates preservation of nature. In the last few decades, this theory has grabbed the attention of scholars and has proved itself to be an interesting field of investigation in literature. It becomes essential to the human being, as the readers of literature, to know the theory and the various fields involved in it. Human life can neither be away from the environment nor from the literature. The theory 'ecocriticism' reflects on the relationship between environment and human life.
